“Oreya is the most sophisticated, enjoyable, and inventive new restaurant to open on the East End in some time.” - The New York Times

Located in the Southampton Capri Hotel, OREYA Restaurant & Lounge [<https://www.oreya.com/>] - where the most exquisite meals are expertly prepared by celebrity chef Greg Grossman - invites an amazing visual artist to be featured on the walls of their beautiful space each summer season from Memorial Day to Labor Day Weekend. This year, they selected Paul Christopher [<https://www.paulchristopher.nyc/>] - an impressive multi-disciplinary creative whose work has shown in Brussels, Los Angeles, Miami, New York, New Jersey, and West Palm Beach since October 2017, and has an extensive number of collectors around the world.

Below, readers can take a peek at the exhibition and are invited to stop by the restaurant, sample their incredible cuisine, and view and purchase Paul Christopher originals.

FLAMINGO Resemblance | Acrylic, Gouache, Oil | 36 x 40 in.

Torture of belonging to a sea of cynicism. A vibrant soul will detour. The sun catches my eye.

ECSTASY Resemblance | Acrylic, Gouache, Oil, Gold Leaf | 36 x 36 in.

Let go. Follow me in. My heart tells me you are the purest sin.

META Resemblance | Acrylic, Gouache, Oil, Watercolor | 36 x 40 in.

In some ways, I'm like a tree. Studying the curves in this road. Watching the sky open. Feeling whispers in the air.

"I am honored to be OREYA [<https://www.oreya.com/>] 's featured artist this Summer and cannot thank them enough for their support! I am humbled by the love I have felt from the world since October 2017 when I first showed publicly in Europe. It amazes me every day as I continue to peel back the layers of my soul that were so buried. I never abandoned my love and passions, but some unfortunate circumstances and traumatic experiences in my life kept me from being ready to open up to others; including almost all of my family and friends. Art and Poetry saved me from drugs and suicide and served as the sacred healing agent where I channeled my emotions endlessly. I'm just now finding my comfort and confidence expressing my artistic nature on a wide scale. Vulnerability, honesty, and authenticity are a testament to my core. And, so, while I am vulnerable and share one verse of poetry with the public for each painting I create, I share the full poem only with my collectors and remain private about the extent of my emotions during that creative process.

*All attendees at OREYA [<https://www.oreya.com/>] this Summer will see additional paintings; some which have never been exhibited or seen before, and also have the chance to play with the early stages of my phone app - which will hopefully be ready to launch in 2019. Without sharing too much, get excited about an interactive creative experience intermingling notes of art, music, poetry, and beyond!!!
(Listen carefully to the lyrics and study the visuals...) Much love, PC*

About the Artist:

Paul Christopher is a soulful artist who refuses to stick to one medium; using every color imaginable. With brushstrokes and mixed media accents of gold leaf and metallic pigments - living flowers he could not let go of, and pieces of broken glass – he builds castles from reflections and predictions that culminate in impactful paintings. A sort of Renaissance man; beyond the canvas, Paul's love and passion extend to his work in real estate, construction, and building design; and poetry and blogging on fashion, beauty, and lifestyle.

About the Restaurant:

Since its grand opening at the Capri hotel in scenic Southampton in 2016, Oreya restaurant fires up its wood-burning grill each Memorial Day weekend to kick off the summer season. The restaurant - which serves a delicious Turkish/Greek menu - boasts lush outdoor seating, a newly re-invented pool, and an open-air lounge that creates the most innovative cocktails featuring the latest mixology trends. From the moment guests cross the threshold, they are transported to the Mediterranean; enjoying a lifestyle experience as they bask in the grandeur and sophistication of peak-season dining in the Hamptons.
